Questions 155-158 refer to the following article.

MISSISSAUGA (31 January)—Next Monday marks the start of this year's Scientific Encounters lecture series, organized by the Canadian Research Institute for Marine Sciences (CRIMS). -[1]-. The first lecture will be presented by Dr. Anita Musafiri, professor of applied chemistry at the National Academy of Science and Engineering in Kigali, Rwanda, and currently a visiting scholar at CRIMS.

The Community Outreach Centre at CRIMS, headed by Ms. Helene Blais, is charged with coordination of the series, which started four years ago. -[2]-. Having analyzed data collected from attendees over the last three years, Ms. Blais now envisions the lecture series as a way to enhance the community's scientific awareness. The data revealed that the presentations were very well attended and received, not only by CRIMS students and staff, but also by the general public. -[3]-. "I was delighted to learn that people who had no affiliation with the institute were quite pleased with the information that was shared," said Ms. Blais.

The lectures will be held at Waabigwan Hall on CRIMS campus. Doors will open one hour in advance of the lecture. Admission is free, with seats available on a first-come, first-served basis. Attendees will be required to complete a brief registration form upon entry. -[4]-. Complimentary light refreshments will be available before the lecture starts. Visit www.crims.ca/sels for details.

155. What is suggested about the Scientific Encounters lecture series?

(A) It includes a free dinner.
(B) It is four years old.
(C) It is held in January.
(D) It features presentations by CRIMS students.

156. What is suggested about Ms. Blais?

(A) She used to work with Dr. Musafiri.
(B) She will post the upcoming lecture online.
(C) She gave a lecture three years ago.
(D) She asked lecture attendees for feedback.

157. What are people attending a presentation asked to do?

(A) Contact Ms. Blais
(B) Purchase tickets in advance
(C) Present a CRIMS identity card
(D) Register on-site

158. In which of the positions marked [1], [2], [3], and [4] does the following sentence best belong? "A voluntary donation will be accepted at that time."

(A) [1]
(B) [2]
(C) [3]
(D) [4]

Questions 159-161 refer to the following instructions.

Welcome to Gongaware Tower. Now that you have purchased your ticket, these guidelines are meant to ensure that you enjoy your visit to the 100th-Floor Viewing Platform.

• Please proceed directly to the elevator lobby. There will be an employee waiting in that area to direct you to the next available elevator.
• Two of our eight elevators are currently undergoing repairs. This may cause delays of up to 30 minutes. Thank you for your patience.
• You will have 15 minutes to walk around the viewing platform and appreciate the spectacular sights of the city. The maps located around the platform will help you to orient yourself.
• When you are ready to come back down, simply wait in the area marked "EXIT" to the right of the elevators. A staff member will direct you to the first available elevator.
• If you are on the platform near the end of the day's visiting hours, we request that you be ready to return to the lobby at least 20 minutes before closing time.

159. Where are these instructions most likely located?

(A) On a viewing platform
(B) Inside an elevator
(C) Next to a ticket office
(D) In a city guidebook

160. According to the instructions, why might there be delays?

(A) The lobby is under construction.
(B) There are more visitors than usual.
(C) Some elevators are out of order.

(C) 30 minutes
(D) 45 minutes

Questions 162-165 refer to the following text-message chain.

Rachel Coghlan (3:24 P.M.)
Hi, Mirna and Isabelle. Are you going to the digital marketing conference in Lethbridge in June?

Mirna Leifsson (3:27 P.M.)
I was just reading the tentative schedule on the conference Web site. I'm looking forward to going! You?

Rachel Coghlan (3:29 P.M.)
Definitely. Maybe we could drive to Lethbridge together or share a hotel room?

Isabelle Joshi (3:32 P.M.)
I'd like to share a hotel room to save some money, but I'm not staying for the whole conference.

Mirna Leifsson (3:34 P.M.)
I actually already booked a hotel room. But my car has been giving me trouble lately, so traveling together would be great.

Rachel Coghlan (3:47 P.M.)
We can make it work, Isabelle. I'll reserve a double room at MacLeo Hotel. We can split the cost for the nights when you'll be there. Mirna, let's work out the details when we get closer to the conference dates.

Isabelle Joshi (3:48 P.M.)
That sounds perfect. I'll be there on June 23 and 24.

Rachel Coghlan (3:50 P.M.)
So you'll be around for Joe Granigan's speech.

Isabelle Joshi (3:50 P.M.)
Absolutely! His ideas have had a huge impact on how our company develops digital content. I can't wait to hear what he has to say.

Rachel Coghlan (3:51 P.M.)
Me too. I'm going to reserve our room right now, Isabelle.

162. What is the main topic being discussed?

Questions 176-180 refer to the following e-mail and chart.

From: bjhong@qzmail.com
To: facilities@kelliganhotel.com
Date: April 12
Subject: Conference October 2-4

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am considering the Kelligan Hotel as the location for a conference about artificial hearing technologies, to be held from Monday, October 2, to Wednesday, October 4. My client says that there will be around 100 guests in attendance. Some of the conference guests themselves use hearing aids. I therefore need a room that is wired with an assisted listening system and is large enough to accommodate all of the guests at once. Your hotel was recommended by a sound engineer who attended an event at your venue. That event used assisted listening technology.

So that I can be certain the room I select meets these particular requirements requested by my client, please send me a complete list of the rooms you have available. This will help me decide whether Kelligan will be a suitable location to host the conference.

In addition, I would be grateful to see the menus for dinners that are available at the hotel, as a number of the guests have specific dietary requirements.

Warm regards,
Byung-joon Hong

The Downtown Theater was established in 1985 and has become an institution in the Toronto area for its world-class productions. The theater is delighted to produce Dalia Ocampo's second full-length work. Ms. Ocampo's first play, Songs from the Silver Tunnel, was performed by the Downtown Theater last spring and led to her Best Debut Writer award by the Canadian Playwright Association.

An Opening Night Worth the Wait

TORONTO (January 16)—I had the opportunity to read Dalia Ocampo's Knock on the Upstairs Door last year, before it ever came to the stage, and found it to be one of the most impressive works by a young playwright that I had ever come across. I enjoyed the raw, tense energy of the writing so much that I was actually hesitant to see the play, thinking it could not possibly be as good as the script. I was pleasantly surprised, however, by the Downtown Theater's production.

I am a fan of Duncan Fabry and thought his latest directorial effort was, mostly, a successful one. All four characters find apt performers, but this is particularly true of the feisty Claudia Hancock, who is at the hub of the plot.

My biggest complaint is that the stage is too dark. Perhaps this is intentional, to make the actors stand out against the dull, dimly lit background. To me, however, it is a hindrance. Overall, it is a play worth seeing. —Arnold Scott

181. What does the program indicate about Ms. Ocampo?

(A) She recently attended a production of her play.
(B) She is both a writer and a director.
(C) She has been recognized by a national organization.
(D) She frequently collaborates with Mr. Fabry.

182. What is true about the Downtown Theater?

(A) It moved from its original location in 1985.
(B) It is the largest theater in Toronto.
(C) It has presented both of Ms. Ocampo's plays.
(D) It has produced Knock on the Upstairs Door previously.

183. What is suggested about Mr. Scott?

(A) He avoids reading plays before seeing them performed.
(B) He had low expectations about a performance.
(C) He enjoyed discussing Ms. Ocampo's script with her.
(D) He was not impressed with Mr. Fabry's previous work.

184. According to Mr. Scott, whose performance is especially good?

(A) Ms. Chisholm's
(B) Mr. Goldstein's
(C) Ms. Hughes'
(D) Mr. Basu's

185. What does Mr. Scott criticize about the performance?

(A) The script
(B) The direction
(C) The sound
(D) The lighting

BGB Career-Planning Workshop Survey

Thank you for attending our career-planning workshop! In an effort to serve our clients better, we would like to ask you to complete this survey. Please rate each item on a scale of 1 (poor) to 5 (excellent).

Name: Marc Hofstadter
E-mail address: mh_1980@allmail.com

	Poor	Excellent
Your career coach (Alonzo Seals):	1 2 3 4 (5)
The facility (Beach Star Hotel):	1 2 3 4 (5)
Food and beverages:	1 2 3 (4) 5
Your overall experience:	1 2 3 (4) 5

Other Comments?
What a great workshop! Mr. Seals was really funny, and the guest speakers were inspiring. The food was good, but the beverage selection was very limited. My only real complaint is that I had a terrible time parking at the hotel. I thought parking was included with the workshop cost, but the valet informed me that it was not. I had to pay $20. I still had a good time and would recommend your workshop to my colleagues. Thanks!

Subject: Workshop Feedback

Dear Mr. Hofstadter,
Thank you for your thoughtful feedback about our recent workshop. I was sorry to hear about your parking experience. While parking was not included in the cost of admission, I see now that this could have been made clearer to you and our other guests in the confirmation e-mail. Therefore, I would like to send you a complimentary copy of Mr. Seals' latest book.

Again, sorry to hear of your difficulty.
Sincerely,
Cynthia Phillips

Updates
Administrative director Zoha Bajwa will be moving to the London office. She has worked for Winslow & Hooper for two years.

Henry Lim will be moving to Thailand next month, where he will serve as vice president of Asian operations. Mr. Lim began working at Winslow & Hooper eight years ago after graduating from the University of London. As director of regional sales in Scotland, he has been based in the Edinburgh office for the past four years.

Nathan Mather will retire on 1 June after having worked at Winslow & Hooper for more than 40 years. From his first position as a stock room clerk, Mr. Mather moved to sales and ultimately rose to the position of Chief Operations Officer. He was honoured with a tribute last month for being the longest-serving employee of Winslow & Hooper.

Caroline Temby is the new manager of the store in Cardiff, Wales. She has been acting manager there for the past seven months, replacing Simon Floyd.

London Daily Business News
(2 February)—As part of its five-year strategic plan, Winslow & Hooper is increasing the number of stores it operates overseas. This news will please international fans of the well-known British department store. Last year Winslow & Hooper established stores in China and Bermuda, and in March it will open two stores in Thailand.

In addition, Australian customers soon will be able to shop via a new dedicated Web site. The Web site will feature products that are in season there and will show prices in Australian dollars. According to a company spokesperson, there are currently no plans to open physical Winslow & Hooper stores in Australia.

I grew up shopping at Winslow & Hooper in London, so I'm excited about this new Web site. They carry a particular brand of wild strawberry jam that I can't find anywhere else. Whenever I spread it on toast, it makes me think of my childhood. I've just placed a large order. I will return to the site to look for the store's famously good deals on clothes, housewares, and jewelry. I hope that in the future the shipping charges will be reduced, as all the current options are rather expensive.

Employee Wellness Programs
By Abhiram Kumar

Corporate wellness programs are beneficial to employers in that they increase employee productivity while simultaneously reducing employee absenteeism and stress. The array of available services includes health fairs, nutrition counseling, preventive health exams, competitions that encourage the adoption of healthy lifestyles, and various fitness activities, including walking. The decision of which program to select depends on the relevance it has for the employees. Preferably, employers should choose a program that their employees would be likely to do for a prolonged period of time.

To: All Employees
From: Denise Naccari
Date: April 15
Subject: Employee Wellness Plan

Dear Colleagues,
Naccari Group is pleased to announce a new wellness plan designed to improve our employees' health. Next week, work will begin on the creation of a walking trail and recreation area on our company grounds. The trail will have stations equipped with exercise machines and weights for employees to perform stretching as well as strength-training exercises. The recreation area will feature a basketball court and a volleyball court.

Following the opening of the trail in September, we will be introducing "Steps Aplenty," a new monthly contest in which participants keep track of the number of steps they have taken during any given month. Details will be provided soon. In the meantime, we encourage you to get up and take a couple of brief walks throughout the workday, either inside the building or outside.

Sincerely,
Denise Naccari
President, Naccari Group

Yousef Awad was excited to learn about the new employee wellness program at Hyung Tech. "As a computer programmer, I sit all day," he said. "So, I was happy to hear that the company would introduce a program that would get me to move more."

Mr. Awad did just that when Hyung Tech provided him with a Buwaygee, a wearable device that enables him to keep track of the number of steps he takes throughout the day. "When I started using it, I was shocked to learn how little I moved. Now, on workdays, I go for a 20-minute walk with a colleague. Moreover, I lead a four-person team, and whenever possible, we conduct our meetings while walking. On weekends, I walk in my neighborhood for about 45 minutes."

Mr. Awad's efforts have paid off. In the company's most recent monthly step challenge, he averaged 7,000 steps a day, which earned him a $100 gift card. "More important," Mr. Awad said, "since I joined the program four months ago, I lost some weight, my blood pressure is lower, I am more relaxed, and I sleep better than I used to."

196. According to the first article, what is true about employee wellness programs?

(A) They are offered for free.
(B) They vary in types of activities.
(C) They improve relations among employees.
(D) They should take place after business hours.

197. What does the e-mail suggest Naccari Group's employees do?

(A) Bring weights to work
(B) Regularly take short walks
(C) Purchase exercise equipment
(D) Form basketball and volleyball teams

198. In the second article, what does Mr. Awad say about his job as a computer programmer?

(A) It does not require much physical activity.
(B) It pays well.
(C) It offers flexible hours.
(D) It includes a lot of variety.

199. What do the programs at Naccari Group and Hyung Tech have in common?

(A) They encourage team sports.
(B) They feature an outdoor recreation area.
(C) They offer daily exercise classes.
(D) They include a competition.

200. What benefit mentioned in the first article is Mr. Awad experiencing?

(A) Improvement in sleep quality
(B) A drop in blood pressure level
(C) A reduction in stress level
(D) Better mood control
